Narture is a fantastic community space. I think the expansion of this is very much needed in Ayr. Better community, better health, more opportunities, more connections. I fully support this!

I really admire the people who run Narture, and their ethics. They have vision and need/deserve tons of support, in whatever way people can. They work so hard, give so much to the community. They have to run a business, yes, but prefer helping people to massive personal profit. Their bread is the best with more and more establishments wanting to order from them. Having a bigger bakery on a very visible corner can only enhance Ayr. I have made lovely new friends and tried exciting new things thanks to my connection with Narture.

I adore coming to the SWAN autism meetings with Narture, it is building my confidence and I hope to get involved in other ways in the future as I am also an artist in my spare time. Expanding Narture is a wonderful thing to do and it will benefit the community in so many ways.

Excellent bakery ...any opportunity for them to expand and support the wider community with employment training etc is of immense value to us all.

Narture CIC is a real force for good in the town of Ayr. I enjoy seeing what they are doing with otherwise unused buildings in the town. I love the art projects they put on and the opportunities they give to local and Scottish artists.

This is a fantastic opportunity for a well-established community organisation to expand and provide more opportunities for local people. Narture have a proven track record of successfully acquiring and transforming buildings into hubs for the the community, showing responsible building stewardship and a genuine drive for place-based regeneration.

Narture has brought vibrancy, diversity and colour to our town centre with opportunities for learning and employment. Wonderful!

Nature CIC are a positive influence in the Ayr and wider community, supporting businesses opportunities, social and creative spaces, we need to support their initiatives and business plans/.
